Subject: The Hornet ACCESS program - A convenient way to provide your students their required books & course materials ensuring course preparedness

We would like to inform you that Alabama State University now leverages the Hornet ACCESS program, a powerful and convenient program designed to ensure students get the course materials they need to succeed prior to your first day of lecture!

What is Hornet ACCESS?

The Hornet ACCESS program delivers required course materials to students when they register, and the cost will be included as part of tuition or course fees so there are no surprises about costs after enrollment. Students can save up to 30% based resulting from Follett's deep relationships with publishing partners and bulk purchasing power. The program also reduces student stress during the purchasing process and provides a method to easily access, manage and use all course materials regardless of format or cost.

Are there adoption limitations?

With Hornet ACCESS, faculty members enjoy the academic freedom to choose the content provider, edition, and medium that best fits the class curriculum. You can start teaching on day one instead of waiting for students to acquire their materials. You can be reassured that everyone in class will have the same materials, including edition and format, on day one leveling the playing field so that you can begin instructing your chosen content right away instead of being forced to teach with "lowest common denominator" content. Follett also troubleshoots and provides instructions for accessing materials, so you no longer need to serve as "tech support" for any digital course materials.

How to participate?

To take advantage of this program, simply provide your chosen adoptions by the pre-determined deadline and we will take care of the rest.

Questions?

If you have any questions about the Hornet ACCESS program, please contact Alabama State University Bookstore at 334-229-4143.

Thanks!
