Preface

The Office of Institutional Research (OIR) at Alabama State University publishes the University Fact Book annually. This document serves as an official reference guide to pertinent information about the University's history, facilities, students, personnel, alumni and academic programs. The Fact Book presents information that highlights the patterns or trends that exist in the institutional data. The Fact Book also provides a historical context in which to review the University's development and may be used as a reference among the University's administrators and faculty in planning and decision-making.

ALABAMA STATE UNIVERSITY

Mission

Alabama State University is a student-centered, nurturing, comprehensive and diverse public historically black University committed to achieving excellence in teaching, research and public service. The University fulfills its mission through fostering critical thought, artistic creativity, professional competence and responsible citizenship in its students; by adding to the body of knowledge to enhance the quality of life through research and discovery; and by helping to advance the state and nation through thoughtful public service. Offering baccalaureate through doctorate degrees, the University maintains a scholarly and creative faculty, state-of-the-art facilities and a living atmosphere in which all members of the campus community can work and learn in pleasant and rewarding surroundings. Consistent with its assurance that race, gender nor economic status inhibits intelligence, creativity or achievement, ASU offers a bridge to success for those who commit to pursuing the building blocks of development, focus, persistence and reward.

Institutional Goals

1. To organize the University in such a manner as to provide sufficient and appropriate leadership, management and oversight to achieve its mission and goals;
2. To ensure the academic integrity of the University;
3. To ensure the fiscal integrity of the University;
4. To enhance the public's perception of the University in order to increase external support;
5. To develop and maintain the physical campus so that the University is a productive, pleasant place to work, study and live;
6. To ensure that the University responds to all of its constituents;
7. To improve programs and services that will contribute to the development of wholesome student life; and
8. To foster continuous improvement of daily operations to become a world-class institution of higher learning.

Accreditations and Memberships

The mission of the Office of Alumni Relations at Alabama State University is to foster and strengthen the relationship between Alabama State University (ASU) and the National Alumni Association (NAA) of ASU, alumni, supporters and friends; to promote and preserve the University’s vision, traditions, purposes, alumni growth; and to maintain records of all alumni and former students while keeping alumni and former students apprised of the latest ASU news, events and programs.

The Office of Alumni Relations maintains communications with more than 28,000 alumni, including those who are members of the NAA. Currently, the NAA has 35 chapters nationwide.

Glossary

Academic rank: categorization of faculty positions, which include tenure/tenure-track and non-tenure track positions. Tenured and tenure-track positions are assistant professor, associate professor and professor; non-tenure-track positions are instructor.
ACT: previously known as the American College Testing program, this test measures educational development and readiness to pursue college-level coursework in English, mathematics, natural science, and social studies. Student performance does not reflect innate ability and is influenced by a student's educational preparedness.
Admitted student: Applicant who is offered admission to a degree-granting program at Alabama State University.
American Indian or Alaska Native: A person having origins in any of the original peoples of North and South America (including Central America) who maintains cultural identification through tribal affiliation or community recognition.
Applicant: An individual who has fulfilled the institution's requirements to be considered for admission and who has been notified of one of the following actions: admission, no admission, placement on waiting list, or application withdrawn (by applicant or institution).
Asian or Pacific Islander: A person having origins in any of the original peoples of the Far East, Southeast Asia, the Indian Subcontinent, or Pacific Islands. This includes people from China, Japan, Korea, the Philippine Islands, American Samoa, India, and Vietnam.
Bachelor's degree: An award (baccalaureate or equivalent degree, as determined by the Secretary of the U.S. Department of Education) that normally requires at least four years but not more than five years of full-time equivalent college-level work.
Black or African American: A person having origins in any of the black racial groups of Africa.
Buildings: capital assets built or acquired for occupancy and use by the entity. These are structures such as classrooms, research facilities, administrative offices, and storage.
Classification: Degree-seeking students are classified based on satisfactory performance on all required examinations and successful completion of credit hours as follows: freshman (less than 32 semester hours, sophomore (at least 32 but less than 63 semester hours), junior (at least 63 but less than 93 semester hours), Senior (at least 93 semester hours).
Classification of Instructional Programs (CIP): a standard numerical and terminological classification system for secondary and postsecondary instructional programs. CIP codes, a six-digit code (in the form xx.xxxx) are used by universities nationally to report various instructional program data to the U. S. Department of Education and other government and higher education organizations.
Clerical and secretarial: a primary function or occupational activity category used to classify persons whose assignments typically are associated with clerical activities or are specifically of a secretarial nature.
Cohort: a specific group of students established for tracking purposes.
Degree: An award conferred by a college, university, or other postsecondary education institution as official recognition for the successful completion of a program of studies.

Doctor's degree: highest award a student can earn for graduate study. The doctor's degree classification includes such degrees as Doctor of Education, Doctor of Juridical Science, Doctor of Public Health, and the Doctor of Philosophy degree in any field such as agronomy, food technology, education, engineering, public administration, ophthalmology, or radiology.
Enrollment: the number of persons who have accurately completed the registration process and who have paid the appropriate fees for coursework.
Executive, administrative, and managerial: persons whose assignments require management of the institution, or a customarily recognized department or subdivision thereof. Assignments require the performance of work directly related to management policies or general business operations of the institution, department or subdivision. Assignments in this category customarily and regularly require the incumbent to exercise discretion and independent judgment.
Faculty: persons whose initial assignments are made for the purpose of conducting instruction, research or public service as a principal activity (or activities). They may hold academic rank titles of professor, associate professor, assistant professor, instructor, lecturer or the equivalent of any of those academic ranks. Faculty may also include the chancellor/president, provost, vice provosts, deans, directors or the equivalent, as well as associate deans, assistant deans and executive officers of academic departments (chairpersons, heads or the equivalent) if their principal activity is instruction combined with research and/or public service. The designation as "faculty" is separate from the activities to which they may be currently assigned. For example, a newly appointed president of an institution may also be appointed as a faculty member. Graduate, instruction, and research assistants are not included in this category.
Federal government grants and contracts (revenues) - revenues from federal governmental agencies that are for training programs, research, or public service activities for which expenditures are reimbursable under the terms of a government grant or contract. Includes Pell Grants.
